

The fifth and most recent Canada Winter Games were held in Quebec for the second time. This time though they were held in the Saguenay-Lac-St-Jean Region of Quebec. On this occasion, the Winter Games started on February 18 and went until March 2, 1983 (Chronicle Herald, February 17, 1983). As the Games became more and more popular, the time span of the Games increased. The first Games of 1967 went only for a week in the middle of February. These Games of 1983 were held over a two-week span starting in the middle of February and finishing in early March. The cross country ski races were held on the 19th, 20th, 22nd and 23rd at the Dorval Club in Alma, Quebec (Canada Winter Games Results, 1983, p. 2). This was the first week of the two weeks at the Games.

The 1983 team was coached by Bryan Scallion from Wentworth, for the second time, and managed by Marjorie Cogswell of Port Williams. The men's team this time was older than the 1979 team, and had Ron Mitchell again, four years older and stronger than last time. Ron was now attending Laurentian University in Ontario and had more snow to practice on in Ontario. The other members of the team were Ian Blair of Halifax, Graham Kendell of Tantallon and his brother, Geoff Kendell, also from Tantallon. Geoff and Ian also went to Laurentian University in Ontario while Graham attended Acadia University (Challenge '83, 1983, p. 10). The women's team of 1983 were a relatively youth team. The four girls were Susan Benedict of Mount Uniacke, Cheryl Molden of Dartmouth, Andree Morrison of Dartmouth and Shelley Roode of Truro. Susan Benedict was a first-year student at Mount Allison, while Cheryl Molden was attending Queen's University in Ontario, it was also her first year. Andree Morrison was still attending high school in Dartmouth and Shelley Roode was at the Nova Scotia Agricultural College in Truro (Challenge '83, 1983, p. 10). The team had been working hard and training for months to prepare for the Winter Games, and because of that were described as a "stronger team overall then four years ago" (Challenge '83, 1983, p. 10).

The first cross country ski race of the 1983 Canada Winter Games was the women's five kilometer event on Saturday, February 19, 1983. The top Nova Scotia female was Susan Benedict in a time of 22:29 for 30th spot out of 39 competitors. The next female was Cheryl Molden in 31st spot with a time of 22:44, followed by Shelley Roode in 38th place in 26:08 and finally Andree Morrison in 39th spot with a time of 26:46 (Canada Winter Games Results, 1983, p. 13). Coach Scallion said of the girls' team, "they are a young team . . . they have had very good times but they are well back in the placings" (The Chronicle Herald, February 21, 1983). Later that same day, the men skied in their first race, a ten-kilometer individual event. The results from the race were great, the top male finisher was Ron Mitchell in a tie for ninth spot in a time of 33:39 and only one second out of eighth place. The next skier was Ian Blair in 26th spot with 36:25, then Geoff Kendell in 29th with 36:48 and finally his brother Graham Kendell in 35th place out of 48 participants, with a time of 38:32 (Canada Winter Games Results, 1983, p. 17). The reaction of coach Scallion to Ron's finish was, "Mitchell's finish is just fantastic, I'm very pleased with it" (Chronicle Herald, February 21, 1983). He also said about the top eight finishers above Ron, "some of those skiers are just below national calibre and just barely missed making the national team, he had a very good race" (Chronicle Herald, February 21, 1983).

The next race to be held was on Saturday, February 20, 1983, and it was the women's 3X5 kilometer relay event. The team was made up of Susan Benedict, Cheryl Molden and Shelley Roode. The team place tenth out of ten teams with a time of 1:09:07 (Canada Winter Games Results, 1983, p. 24). The men's team had a much better result in the afternoon. The relay was a 3X10 kilometer race which was made up of Ron Mitchell, Ian Blair and Geoff Kendell. The Nova Scotia team placed ninth out of 12 teams, in a time of 1:46:40 (Canada Winter Games Results, 1983, p. 29). This was an improvement of two placings over the last Games in 1979. The final race day for the women was Tuesday, February 22, 1983, and the conditions were just great for skiing. In the women's ten-kilometer individual event, the girls showed great improvement. The top Nova Scotia female in this race was again Susan Benedict, but this time she placed 21st out of a field of 36 skiers, her time was 42:47. Cheryl Molden also finished in the top thirty category by placing 28th in a time of 46:12. She was followed by Shelley Roode at 49:26 for 32nd spot and finally Andree Morrison, right behind in 33rd spot, in a time of 51:48 (Canada Winter Games Results, 1983, p. 46). Coach Scallion was pleased and said, "I was really happy with Susan's finish. She moved way up from 30th in the five-kilometer race to 21st. That's a really big improvement" (Chronicle Herald, February 24, 1983). He also went on to say, "Before we came I figured if any of the girls broke into the top 30 that would be really good, and now we have one at the bottom of the 20's and Cheryl Molden at 28th" (Chronicle Herald, February 24, 1983). Even though they were a young team, they showed potential talent for future years.

The men's team though did not show as much improvement in their final race. The men's race was a 15-kilometer individual event, and the team had good results, but they were not quite as good as the ten-kilometer race skied earlier. Ron Mitchell was again the top Nova Scotia finisher, but he slipped to 19th spot with a time of 54:51. He was followed by Ian Blair who also slipped some placings to 29th. His time was 58:05. Geoff Kendell was close but also slipped a couple of spots to 31st. His time was 58:43. The only guy to improve was Graham Kendell who moved up to 34th spot with a time of 61:25 (Canada Winter Games Results, 1983, p. 53). Even though the 15-kilometer race was not quite as successful as the ten-kilometer race, the men's cross country ski team made an impressive jump up to eighth spot overall from 11th at the previous Games (Chronicle Herald, February 25, 1983).

The 1983 Canada Winter Games women's team also improved over the 1979 Games. This time the girls moved up to ninth place from 11th and since they were a relatively young team, they have the potential to get better for the future. The future will be the 1987 Canada Winter Games. The Nova Scotia team is training hard and has a great advantage, because the competition is in their home province. The 1987 Games are going to take place in Cape Breton in February of 1987. The women's team should have more experience this time because two of the 1983 girls are returning to try to make the team. Susan Benedict and Andree Morrison now have four more years of skiing experience to help them go for the 1987 Canada Winter Games. All we can do now is sit back to see if Nova Scotia can meet the challenge of the 1987 Canada Winter Games.
